CANADA'S FASHION MAGAZINE

October 2007

who

When Vancouver's Shereen de Rousseau couldn't find the edgy-but-glamorous jewelry she was hunting for, she whipped up a batch of baubles for herself (and her gaggle of style-savvy gal pals, natch). Her eponymous jewelry collection is now a smash hit with some of the city's most enviable fashion pundits, who have been spotted rocking the cross-platform pieces everywhere from bistro dinners in Gastown to VAG exhibitions on opening night. Think chunky and handcrafted with a vintage vibe (de Rousseau oxidizes and sands her silver for an aged look), throw in a rock-steady edge (chains, charms, retro coins) et voila! You're ready for your closeup, rock star. Available at Misch, located at 2960 Granville Street, or visit shereenderousseau.com.

Love the look of a giant stack of crispy red Ambrosia's resting in a spalted maple bowl on your kitchen counter? You're such a West Coast girl. Hand pick your shiny new props at UBC Botanical Gardens' 17th Annual Apple Festival October 13th and 14th, where you can bite the sweetest selection of over 60 varieties of heritage, organic and new-variety pomes. And the dress code? Leave the sparkle tunic at home. This is definitely a denim-dipped-into-Wellingtons kind of crowd. P.S. Don't leave without treating yourself to a giant jug of organic apple juice—doctor's orders. Visit ubcbotanicalgarden.org for more information.

SHOW

Longing for your South Granville flat to scream fabulous instead of fresh-out-of-frosh week? It's time, lovey. Head to the Vancouver Home and Interior Design Show (October 11th to 14th, B.C. Place) for tips, tricks and the latest obsessions over all things home and décor. Besides the jaw-dropping list of exhibitors (dig how many are eco-chic), there will be expert advice around every luxe, lacquered bend. Did we mention that cheeky duo Colin and Justin of Home Heist will be on hand? Worth the price of admission alone. Visit vancouverhomeshow.com.
